Planners Report To City Council On Annexation

The Carmel Planning Commission, sitting as a committee of the whole last Thursday evening, received a report on the relationship to the city, in respect to Carmel's general plan and its zoning laws, of areas from which annexation requests have been presented to the city council.

The report was prepared by the commission's planning and conservation committee, composed of Commissioners Fred Keeble, Anthony Vasconcellos and George Willox, in consultation with the city's director of planning, Floyd Adams.

Editor's Column

This morning a resident of Carmel Point, John Walsh, issued a challenge to me, or any other citizen of Carmel, to debate publicly with him on the annexation of his area to the City of Carmel.

Mr. Walsh deplored the fact that he had not been allowed to speak at a meeting last Wednesday of the planning commission's planning and conservation committee, also on Thursday at a meeting of the commission sitting as a committee of the whole to consider and act on the report of its committee prepared the day before.

Mrs. Dorothy von Meier, chairman of the planning commission, says Mr. Walsh called at her home. She talked to him and explained that she was not inviting the public to speak at either meeting because (a) the committee meeting was for research on specific material to be considered for the report, (b) that the commission was meeting in special session, as a committee of the whole, for study before deciding whether or not to adopt it.

The planning commission did adopt the report and forwarded it to the city council, as requested by this body, and in accordance with legal annexation procedure.

The report deals only with the relationship to the city's general plan and zoning laws of the areas which have requested permission from the city council to circulate annexation petitions, and is public knowledge.

Personally, I think nothing would be accomplished by a public debate. The laws governing annexation provide for a public hearing to be held by the city council before a special election in the areas to be annexed. At this time all protestants to annexation may be heard, also those who approve the matter.

Considering this, I refuse Mr. Walsh's challenge, but only for myself, others may wish to accept.

However, any written communication which Mr. Walsh, or any other person, may wish to send to the Pine Cone about annexation will be published, provided it is signed and does not offend any law.

Lastly, Claude B. Kimball, co-chairman with Lucile Lannestock of the anti-annexation committee on Carmel Point, (of which Mr. Walsh is a member) following Mr. Walsh's talk with me this morning, asked for an appointment to talk to me. He also asked if he might bring other members of the committee with him. We are to meet at 10 a.m. Monday morning.

I explained to Mr. Walsh this morning that I could not talk to him, at length, on press day. I offered, also, to talk to him at any time he set on Monday. He did not accept this offer. —M.L.

After careful and detailed study, this committee recommended in its report that requests to circulate annexation petitions be approved in three specific areas. This report was adopted by the commission and will be forwarded to the city council for consideration.

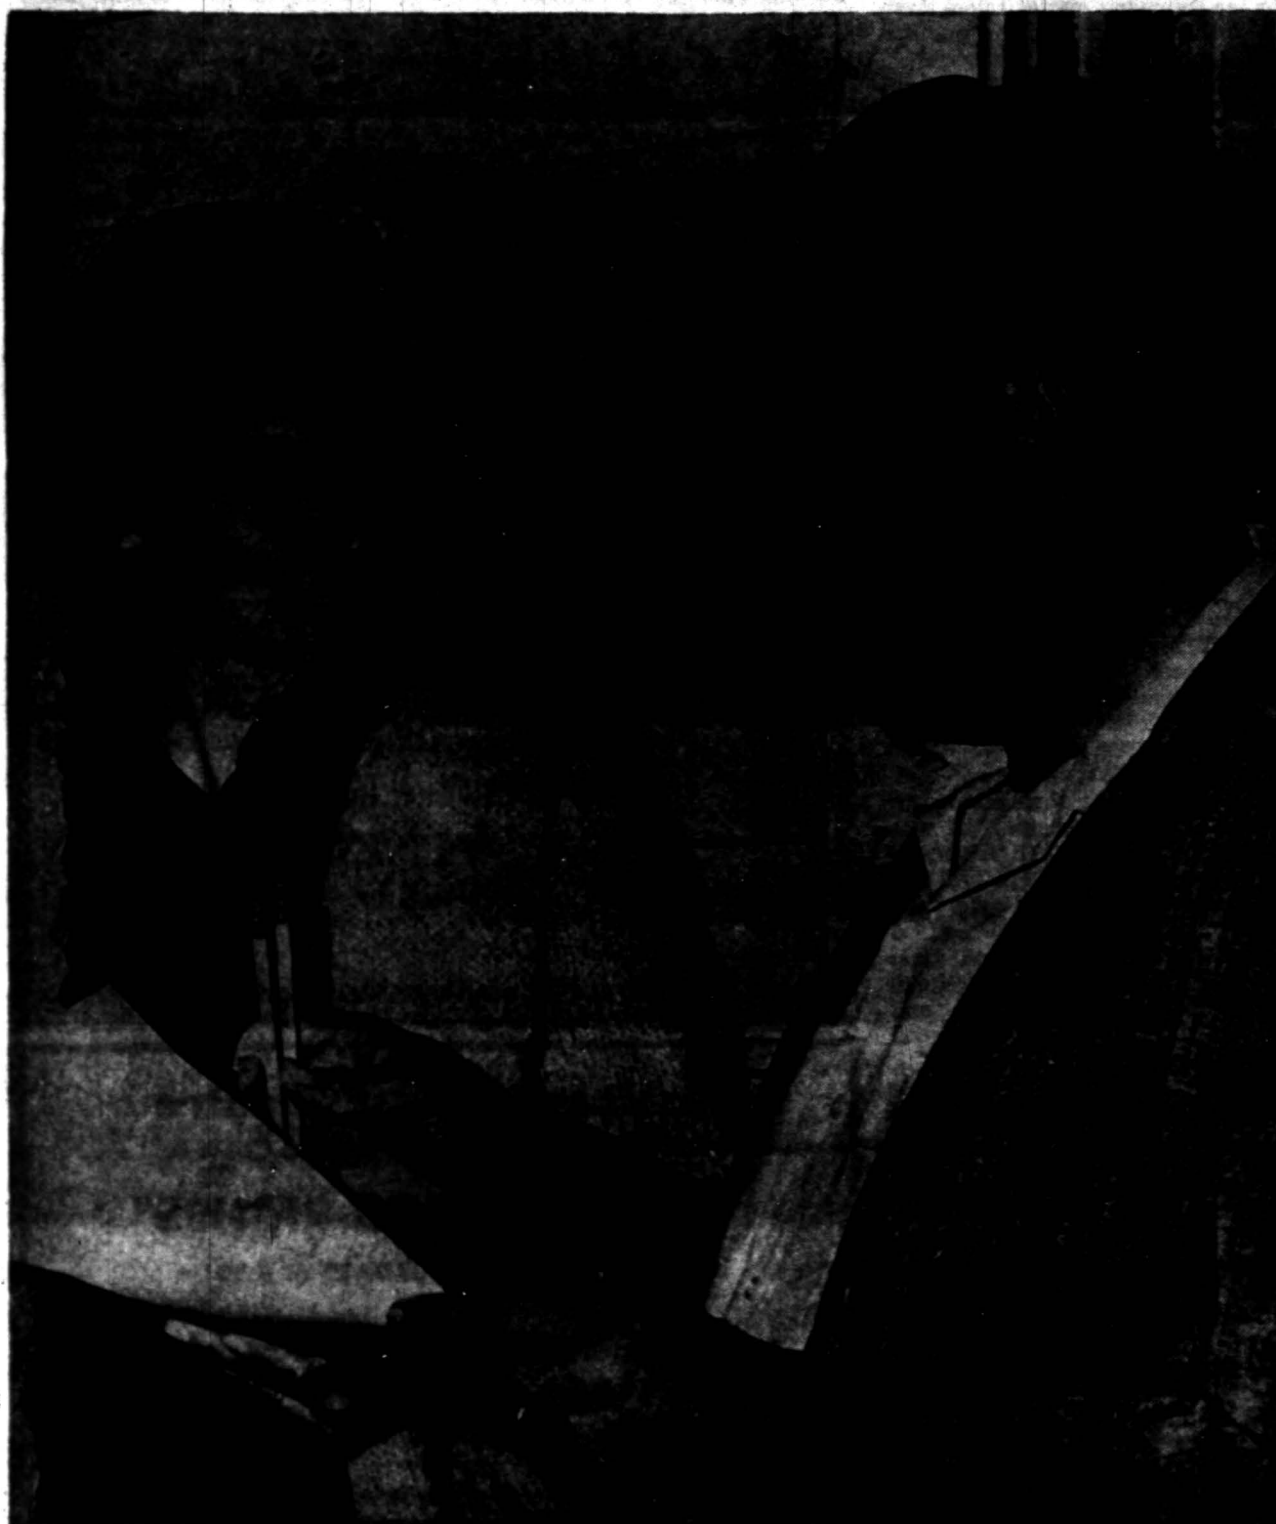

Specific recommendations to the city council in the report are that the request to circulate annexation petitions in Area One be approved and this area should include Carmel Mission Basilica, the Hodges stables and the Carmel Sanitary District plant.

Area One consists of Mission Fields, the Walker Tract, second addition to the Mission Tract and 13 lots in Hatton Fields. All these areas lie on one side or the other of Rio Road.

Secondly, the report recommended the council should approve the request to circulate annexation petitions in Area Two. This area is the Mission Tract, excluding the second addition to this subdivision.

Thirdly, the report recommended that the council approve the request to circulate annexation petitions on Carmel Point.

Symphony Season Opens Tuesday

Weeks of taxing rehearsals will end for Monterey County Symphony members Tuesday evening, when the orchestra opens its 19th season in Sunset School Auditorium at 8:30 p.m.

Conductor John Gosling is seen above at one of these rehearsals with Colette Buhler, orchestra librarian and the wife of Composer Philippe Buhler, discussing one of the lists which have to be checked before each rehearsal and concert.

The traditionally all-orchestral opener will feature Brahms' "Academic Festival Overture," Hovhannes' "Mysterious Mountain" and Dvorak's "Symphony No. 4. Symphony members have been preparing for it since early September. John Gosling will begin his fourth year as conductor and music director of the 75-player orchestra. Almost one-third of the orchestra's personnel this year is made up of newcomers to the symphony, including concert-master, George Nagata.

Succeeding concerts in the five-concert series will feature an outstanding array of musical talent including world-famed pianist, Grant Johannesen; top violinist, Rolf Persinger; duo-pianists Wade Parks and Camille Olaeta and the Monterey Peninsula College Community Chorus.

With the exception of a very few scattered seats, the season has been completely sold out. Season ticket holders who may be unable to attend are urged to turn in their seats so that the symphony may benefit from the resale. The Symphony Association's new temporary office is located at All Saints' Episcopal Church, Lincoln and Ninth Streets. Definite office hours have not yet been set, but message service is available all day by telephoning 624-4125.

AUTOMOBILE FIRE HAZARD

Due to the extreme heat during the past four days, Carmel has been subject to a fire hazard, unique in this normally temperate area.

The Carmel Volunteer Fire Department has been active in 11 gasoline wash-downs. Cars, with their gas tanks filled to capacity and left sitting in the sun, have overflowed and gasoline was running in the streets.

On the alert, the Fire Department has been cruising every day since Sunday. Three cars, with their gas tanks locked (and overflowing) were towed to the A.A.A. service station, cooled off, and kept there, until their owners appeared.

In case the hot weather continues, the Fire Department warns: Do not leave your car parked on a down grade. Better yet, do not leave your car parked where the sun will reach it for one minute longer than possible.

State Officials To Speak Here Tuesday On Proposition One

The public is invited, free of charge, to hear four distinguished state officials in a panel discussion on Proposition One at 8 p.m., Tuesday evening in Carmel Junior High School gymnasium. The event has been arranged by the Ventana chapter of the Sierra Club.

The state park bond issue on the November 3 ballot will be discussed by Margaret W. Owings of Big Sur, member of the state park commission; Charles de Turk, director of the state department of parks and recreation; Edward Dolder, chief of the state division of beaches and parks; and State Senator Fred Farr of Carmel, chairman of the senate committee on natural resources.

A movie, "The Golden Opportunity," produced in color by Walt Disney, will be shown after the panel discussion.

This occasion will also be the annual meeting of the local (Ventana) Sierra Club chapter.

Paradise is where you find it;
Nobody ever designed it.
One guy said it was bread, booze and a dame; since which the world has never been the same.
Some people get the idea you have to be dead first.
Others imagine it's something you fall into head first.
But before you breathe its air,
You have to believe it's there.
As far as I'm concerned, it depends on what you're thinking; and if you haven't learned it by now, don't give up drinking, and eating, and loving, and living, and being optimistic, because otherwise you end up by just being a statistic.
Paradise to me is every day.
When things go on in their merry old way.
In my paradise there'd be no Mondays — just Fridays and Saturdays, and some days such as Christmas and the Fourth of July — though
I can't, at this moment tell you why.
And reasons are useless — no two are the same — with little relation to riches or fame.
But, whatever it is, you have to believe in it.
Before you start achieving it.

From A Librarian's Notebook

By Ruth Galvin Thornburg, City Librarian

Never being far from a dictionary—it was easy to learn that the soil of Madagascar which is described as lateritic, is made up of decayed rock and is red in color. And this explains why Arthur Stratton called his book about the island THE GREAT RED ISLAND. Now called the Malagasy Republic, this island lies off the southeast coast of Africa, and is said to be moving at the rate of an inch a year away from Africa and toward the other Polynesian islands, a thing we can all understand. This book is a history of the island, reflections on the inhabitants and a personal view of the place as it is today. Anyone for Madagascar?

It isn't the illustrations, although they are charming, and it isn't the easy, friendly style of the writing, nor is it the very nice make-up of the book. It is the combination of all these characteristics which makes THE LIVING WILDERNESS by Rutherford Montgomery such a delightful thing. All the beasts are there, from bats and pack-rats to the big ones, the bears and the moose and the cougars. This is a great argument for the preservation of our wildlife.

"Things happen to children before they are born. Most of these things are good; some can be harmful. A prospective mother can determine to a large extent what will happen to her child." These are the hypotheses upon which Ashley Montagu has based his latest book LIFE BEFORE BIRTH. The author discusses a multitude of things having to do with pregnancy, birth, and the early life of the child. He discusses a great many things of an astounding nature, such as the ability of a child to learn before it is born. This is a book for all women of child-bearing age, which is before the age of 35, according to Professor Montagu.

Pierre-Jean De Smet was born in Belgium in 1801, one of twins who were eighth and ninth children of Judocus De Smet. At the age of 20, Pierre-Jean began a journey to America with the purpose of studying for the priesthood and becoming a missionary to the Indian country. This he did, traversing the wilderness time and again and earning the respect of the Indians who called him Black Robe. And this is the title of the recent biography of this truly great man which was written by John Upton Terrell of Monrovia, California. Real history in this one, and more exciting than any novel.

Dear Madam:

With election just two weeks away informed readers will appreciate reading the official political stand taken by the west coast's leading Communist newspaper, The People's World. Very briefly, much of their policy can be summarized in the following quotes taken from page 8 of their last issue published October 10:

"A defeat of Goldwater is not enough. The defeat must be shattering, decisive, overwhelming, of such a scope as to constitute an emphatic, massive repudiation of all he stands for.

"Such a repudiation of the 'choice' Goldwater offers will, in itself, express the popular will for an altogether different course."

To me their position is alarmingly and emphatically clear. The "altogether different course" that they speak of causes me great anxiety and much concern.

How do you stand, Madam?

Respectfully,

—Raymond C. Wilson.

soul for the Irish, you must not fail to read THE TAILOR AND ANSTY by Eric Cross. And don't skip Frank O'Connor's introduction either! These are the folk tales, the gossip, the philosophy of a small Irish tailor who lived in County Cork with his wife Ansty. Each evening their small kitchen was filled with the folk who came to talk and laugh and many were the tales that were told and the songs that were sung, and mostly by the tailor himself, a grand little man. At one time the book was banned in Ireland, but later it was un-banned, and there's little in it that isn't good honest reading.

Lastly, we have a book by the new prime minister of Great Britain, Harold Wilson. The title is PURPOSE IN POLITICS, and it has been described as an indispensable book for anyone interested in Anglo-American relationships. And aren't we all?

The Great Transmission Mystery

by Ben Lyon

It was cops and robbers day at Laguna Seca. The warm air that seems always to attend the Grand Prix hung heavy with intrigue. Among the aficionados of zoom a mystery had been growing all during the racing season from Mossport to Riverside. Finally it rang out pointblank Sunday when the announcer asked, "Jim Hall, what do you have in that black box where a transmission should be?" The likeable owner of the winning Chaparral declined to comment.

The black box in question is a very important item. It seems to allow the Chaparral's Chevy engine to operate at optimum RPMs at all road speeds. This would mean that charioteer Penske had all his horses pulling all the time. The previously unbeatable King Cobras of Carroll Shelby and Ford just couldn't go that fast.

Although the cloak and dagger aspects of the day were minus the dagger, they were, nevertheless, real and sometimes funny. Witness a sleekly clad "lady of the pits" happening to stroll up to the Chaparral just as its rear body section is hoisted off. (See picture). Suddenly from her revealing décolletage there emerged a very business-like camera which was aimed with professional celerity at that same little black box. After catching a look from Mr. Hall she wandered back to the Shelby van—where she was a mechanic???

I wonder if Ford's engineers will be able to figure out anything from the pictures.

The secret of this transmission is well guarded. Two members of the national automotive press said that they'd been trying all summer to get some facts on it with no results. When asked about it by this reporter, Roger Penske smiled and said,

"Well it's sort of like a Powerglide."

Well a Rolls is sort of like a Fiat.

Actually one cannot fairly consider the coyness of Team Chaparral about their gears to be a fault—Sin of transmission? After all, drivers like Penske, Gurney, and Jones and constructors like Hall and Shelby are professionals who must win to stay in business and who therefore must be concerned, unlike the aficionados, with the profits of zoom.

2. Dan Gurney—Lotus Ford
3. Bob Bondurant—Cooper
4. Ron Bucknum—Cooper Ford
5. Jerry Grant—Lotus Chevy

LIFE DIPLOMAS

Three teachers in the Carmel school system were granted life diplomas last week by the Monterey County Board of Education. They are Mary Alice Osborne

Art News . .

On November 8 in his Carmel gallery, Emile Norman of Big Sur will hold an invitational preview of a show of his sculpture which will open to the public the following day. Included in this Emile Norman Gallery exhibition will be bronzes and marbles created by the artist in Italy earlier this year.

Next week, Mr. Norman's show at the Adele Bednarz Galleries in Los Angeles will close. This exhibition marked the formal opening of these galleries. Several of the artist's works were sold, on the night the show opened, and he also received a large commission. Since then the show has had "very good" sales.

At present, Mr. Norman is working on a large mosaic, with a herb garden design, commissioned by patrons in Texas.

As he plans to leave for Africa on December 17 on a "looking at animals" safari which will keep him away from here until March, Mr. Norman is promising a delivery date of Christmas 1965 for all commissions received after he has finished those which will be delivered before he leaves for Africa. In this country he will sketch and paint animals for reference material for future sculpture. Brooks Clement, who will accompany him, will photograph African animals for the same purpose.

An exhibit of 17 landscapes depicting the interior of China, which are the current work of Madame Nei Chu Tung of Berkeley, will go on display, beginning tomorrow, in the Thunderbird Bookshop in Carmel Valley.

Madame Tung is the wife of S. T. Tung, Ph. D., author and lecturer, who was heard in two addresses in Carmel last week.

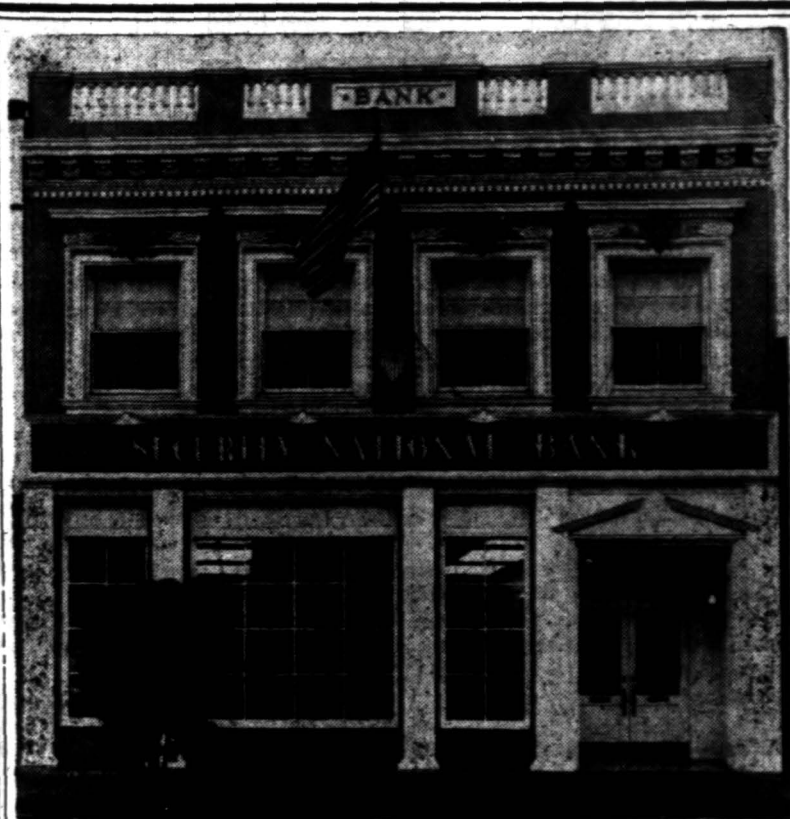

The paintings, in muted blues, vary from dramatic mist-encircled crags, to the peaceful representation of rivers and lowlands. The technique is an interesting integration of Madame Tung's training in China and her absorption in American oil painting techniques.

The Tungs escaped from the China mainland with their four children in 1950.

June Braucht, A.F.A. curator, has arranged for Edgar Bissantz to introduce Irene Lagorio to those attending her slide lecture, "Signs of the Times," at A.F.A. headquarters this evening at 8 p.m.

Currently on display at the A.F.A. headquarters gallery is the work of 28 artists chosen from scores of entries in the competitive exhibition, "Monterey County Painting 1964" sponsored by the A.F.A.

Better watch out, you parents, when you start the "birds and bees" routine these days, at least as far as bees are concerned.

Two red-eyed bees, the result of experimentation by two UC at Davis entomologists, are living proof that a bee can have two male parents... and no female.

That's what the UC clip-sheet says. And it adds that those red eyes are female eyes. The two scientists checked 2,401 young bees to get the "hoped-for" proof given above. Maybe it applies only to bees, though, the two men emphasize.

Political campaigns bring out some pretty odd nicknames. George Murphy's contribution is "Silent Salinger." But Senator Pierre Salinger's supporters countered. They dubbed Pierre's opponent "Mum Murphy." And this is all because both men are accused of keeping quiet on certain issues which is something I hadn't credited to either candidate.

"Anything to get your name in the paper" is the category to which I relegate the following which I found in the Pine Cone mail:

"The tiny bat has a big appetite, according to the National Automobile Club. It will eat a quarter of its weight at one meal and more than half its weight every night."

But don't laugh! See what happened! The National Automobile Club did get its name in the paper even though it resorted to being batty.

Some persons really do adapt their environment to suit them. For example, Lieutenant Commander Howard R. Seay, pronounced as though it had no y, lives in Pacific Grove on Tide Avenue and teaches an evening course in oceanography at MPC. Shore nuff, I can't help but wonder if his wife was ever a WAVE.

"Question. Where can you have the feeling of dining in a Spanish cantina, an Austrian rathskeller, a French boite and an Israeli kibbutz all in the same evening."

"Answer. In every mess hall at Fort Ord."

That's what a press release says will happen on Sunday, United Nations Day. And that's only one meal. Read below.

"Troops will arrive at the dining hall having been fully awakened by reveille formation. Grilled pork sausage, Yugoslavian style, and Icelandic griddle cakes with New Zealand maple syrup will be heaped upon each plate. Either tea from China or coffee from South America will be chosen to add just the right touch to the early morning repast.

"With the approach of the noon hour, the pleasant aroma of Swiss fried chicken drenched with a German giblet gravy will linger over Fort Ord. A Grecian mixed salad and broccoli with lemon butter sauce, Italian style, will accompany the fried chicken. Appetites will finally be satiated by a generous portion of fresh cherry pie sent directly from the Land of the Shamrock.

"The strains of retreat will still be echoing as hundreds of epicurean eyes pass by gleaming hot tables holding huge casseroles of steaming Spanish creole soup, Austrian veal paprika, Nepalese O'Brien potatoes and Portuguese buttered peas.

"For this supper, the manually dextrous soldier will butter his Israeli bread with the Ukrainian "higher priced spread." Colombian ice cream and a beverage of Filipino tea with lemon or Venezuelan coffee with Belgian milk will complement his main course and will complete the Fort Ord soldier's 1964 venture in international dining."

The "old" Army was never like this!

ALL SAINTS' BROKEN INTO
Eggs, corn and crushed pineapple was the menu selected by an intruder who gained entrance to the kitchen of All Saints' Episcopal Church Tuesday night.

According to the Carmel police department report, the unknown person first broke a window in the church library, then splintered a door around the lock to enter the kitchen, and, following this, prepared and ate the above meal.

Small and large printing orders are quickly filled at The Pine Cone Press. Dial Carmel MA 4-3881.

Arthur Bennett

Arthur O. Bennett, owner and operator of the Carmel Valley Market and for many years, a resident of Carmel, died suddenly early this morning in a Santa Cruz hotel. While the attending physician stated that Mr. Bennett's death was due to natural causes, an autopsy has been ordered by the Santa Cruz coroner's office.

Mr. Bennett was born in Lodi, October 9, 1906. With his wife Joan R. Bennett, he came to make his home in Carmel in 1948. At that time Mr. Bennett was operating the Friendly Market in Pacific Grove as well as the Carmel Valley Market. Six years ago the operation of the Friendly Market was taken over by Mr. Bennett's sister, Mrs. Helen Davie of Pacific Grove. Recently Mr. and Mrs. Bennett moved to Carmel Valley.

In addition to his wife and sister, Mr. Bennett is survived by two daughters, Victoria and Sally Joan; and his father, Okey Lee Bennett of Pacific Grove. Funeral services are pending, with the Paul Mortuary in charge of arrangements.

Mrs. M. Wallace

Mrs. Margaret McVicker Wallace, one of Carmel's pioneer residents, died last evening in the Carmel Valley home which she has occupied since June.

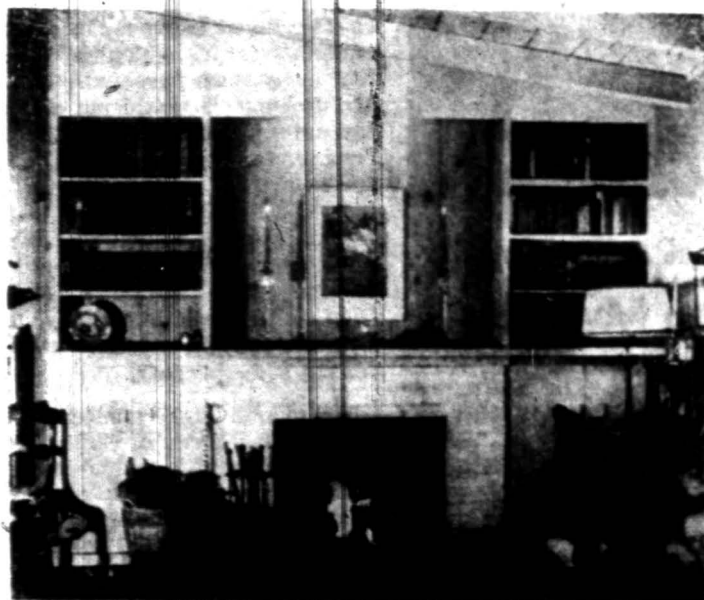

Mrs. Wallace was born in San Francisco, July 30, 1885. With her husband, the late Grant Wallace, war correspondent and artist, Mrs.

Wallace came to Carmel in 1909. Making their home at Junipero and Eleventh Streets, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace were leaders in literary and art circles, numbering George Sterling, Mary Austin, Sinclair Lewis and Jack London, as their close friends. Mr. and Mrs. Wallace were among the original promoters of the Forest Theater and the Carmel Music Society. Mr. Wallace died in 1954.

Mrs. Wallace is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Moira Courvoisier of Monterey, and a son, Kevin, of New York City, and two grandchildren.

Private services were held this morning in the Dorney and Farlinger Memorial Chapel in Monterey with inurnment in the Cemetery El Encinal in Monterey.

For The Birds' Party

For the first time in its history, the Carmel Art Association Galleries rang with discotheque music on Saturday evening—and it was for "feathered" creatures from outer space.

The occasion was a "For the Birds" party given by artist members of the association for other artist members.

Marlinde von Ruhs had been dreaming of just such a party for many months and she was assisted in her plans by fellow artists Marjorie Allen, Barbara West, Gerry Wasserman, Richard Rodrigues and Pat Carey.

The sextet converted the galleries into a mad aviary with colorful winged products of their vivid imaginations, created of bright papers and wired for motion. The birds "flew" from the ceiling at bizarre angles.

The sumptuous gourmet buffet, centered with a fountain of wine, was as colorful as it was delicious.

There were prizes for the most beautiful, the most terrifying, and the most amusing winged creatures.

Over black leotards Miss von Ruhs wore a great cape and trained skirt of black net covered with felt feathers. A long beak was attached by wires to her amazing hat.

Pat Cunningham danced and whirled with an enormous white dove perched on her shoulder. Eldon Dedini, as a bird just hatched, used yards of spaghetti to create a three dimensional effect that was hilarious.

Janet Ament and Victor DeGesu came as a pair of dodo birds; architect George Downs, as a bird "unknown to ornithologists." Betty Seold, as a colorful and elusive early bird, won enthusiastic applause as she danced and twittered.

Mrs. Douglas MacGregor, president of the Carmel Art Association, sacrificed a purple feather boa, cut up in pieces and strategically placed, to be a new, world bird. Leonard Heller appeared as a chartreuse ostrich. Sophie Harpe and E. Cashion MacLennan as birds of paradise were miracles of color.

Carmel Visitors

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Craig of Berkeley, Carmel visitors for the past 35 years, have been staying at their favorite hostelry, the Homestead, for the past week. They were entertained at a tea on Sunday afternoon by their longtime friends, the Fred Elstobs. Artist Charlotte Morton drove to Berkeley with the Craigs yesterday. She plans to return to Carmel early next week.

School Board Study

Last week, Joseph Cronin, a school administration graduate student at Stanford University, was in Carmel gathering material. He is making a national study of school boards in a dozen states for the Carnegie corporation. Carmel is one of the communities included in this research. The book resulting from Mr. Cronin's work will evaluate circumstances and factors which motivate citizens to nominate and elect school trustees in various communities, also what influences in a nominee's background lead to willingness to serve on a school board.

Here For The Races

Guests of Charlotte Townsend last week-end were Mr. and Mrs. Bruno Stucky of San Francisco. Saturday evening, at Charlotte's house, Bruno cooked a gourmet dinner for 14 persons. In addition to the hostess and the Stuckys, those who enjoyed this meal were members of the Porsche team who came in their coveralls straight from working on one of the cars and found the Carmel visit a peaceful interlude in the hectic Laguna Seca race week-end, Charlotte reports.

Cal Poly Expedition

It took a microbus and a station wagon to transport two California State Polytechnic College students, a professor of design, their respective wives, 11 children and a dog to Carmel last week-end.

Purpose of the expedition was for John Augsburg to make a preliminary survey of an area of the Peninsula which he plans to use as the basis for his senior project. Sam Morse was the other student. He will work with Jack on the design of the project. The professor was Wes Ward. The 11 children were eight Augsburgs and three Wards. Mrs. Ward, Sherry Augsburg and Mardi Morse completed the expedition's human count. The dog was Tasha, the Moroses' Labrador pup. Base for the expedition was River Ranch in Carmel Valley.

Report On Africa

Mrs. J. F. McKenzie (Barbara) who left Carmel last February with Mrs. T. N. Barrows (Jane) for Europe, is home again, and Jane Barrows is expected to reopen her house in the Hacienda Carmel tomorrow.

Sailing from San Francisco on an Italian freighter, the two travelled extensively through Italy, Greece and Yugoslavia. In late May, Mrs. Barrows went to London where she took a flat and, using London as her home base, travelled throughout the British Isles.

On her own, Mrs. McKenzie sailed from Holland in June for South Africa where she spent 81 days absorbing much of the disturbed political atmosphere.

"I found Capetown and Johannesburg in the center of a police state. Citizens were arrested for no apparent reasons, without police warrants, and could be held in detention up to 90 days. This high handed 'law' enforcement applied to whites as well as the native blacks.

"Mozambique, a Portuguese colony, seemed much more relaxed. There was much less racial bias," she reports.

Going on to Tanganyika, Mrs. McKenzie found conflict in ideology. "This is the haven of peace," she was told by a native official. Within the hour Mrs. McKenzie witnessed a parade of 3,000 natives, all carrying placards reading, "Americans, Get Out of the Congo." She was told by an authority that one brilliant young native, a graduate of the University of Oregon, was beheaded, "because he was an intellectual, Americanized by his stay in Oregon."

From Africa, the traveler went on to Portugal where, in Cascais she spent a happy time talking about "home" with Mrs. Edward Kuster. Gay, who has been in Europe for many months, was, she said, going around the world before she returned to her Carmel Valley home.

"And suddenly," Mrs. McKenzie tells, "I was over-poweringly homesick. I hopped a plane in Amsterdam, bound for New York, and here I am!"

Mrs. Barrows reached New York some weeks ago, to visit her daughter Nancy, who will be with her when she returns to Carmel tomorrow.

New von Meier

From Berlin, Germany, Mrs. Julian von Meier has received a beautifully engraved announcement, via airmail. It reads, "Alexandra von Meier, October 7, 1964, 3500 grams, 52 centimeters, 1000 greetings, from Karl and Elsa Clauberg."

Of course, Mrs. von Meier had listened to a telephoned announcement on October 7 from her son, Kurt von Meier, and his wife, Hildegard, the happy parents of Alexandra who, in English, arrived that day, weighing seven pounds, and measuring about 18 inches in length. The Karl and Elsa Clauberg writing from Berlin are Alexandra's proud maternal grandparents.

Alexandra is the first child of the young von Meiers who are living on campus at Princeton University, where Kurt is teaching.

Mrs. von Meier plans to go east at Christmas time, to win her new granddaughter's heart with a batch of Carmel toys.

will be the featured entertainment, giving a play, "Tartuffe," by Moliere, directed by R. G. Davis. The same Mime Troupe will perform at the Big Sur Hot Springs on Saturday afternoon at 3:00.

Halloween night, October 31 at 8:00 p.m., the once a year "Bel Masque" begins at Nepeenthe. Reservations are limited and all the guests must be in costume.

PALO COLORADO POLLING PLACE

For as long as most people can remember, the Palo Colorado schoolhouse has been the election day polling place for the Palo Colorado Precinct but beginning with the forthcoming general election (November 3) the place will be changed. For registered voters living in the Palo Colorado, Rocky Creek, Bixby Creek and Garra-peta areas, the polling place will be a real estate office known as Garra-peta Ranch Headquarters, located on the east side of Highway One, one-quarter mile south of Garra-peta Bridge. Members of the election board will continue to be: Inspector Gladys Morton, Judge Frank Trotter, and Clerks Betty Bell and Fern Trotter.

MRS. GERTRUDE IDA ROUNDS VISITS

Mrs. Gertrude Ida Rounds, a resident of upper Palo Colorado Canyon for more than half a century, gave much pleasure to her friends, relatives and former neighbors when she visited with them this past week. For years Mrs. Rounds lived alone in her forest-surrounded home in the canyon, however, presently she is with her son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Goetz of Salinas. Week-ends the Goetzs come to their mountain top vacation home and Mrs. Rounds has the opportunity to spend time in the country she loves and knows so well. Sunday morning it was breakfast with another son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Frances Goetz, several miles down the canyon. As always Mrs. Rounds "walked down." Through the years, ever smiling, alert and active Mrs. Rounds could be seen almost any day taking long walks along the

Saturday Matinee At Hill Theatre For Disney True-Life Films

The series of Walt Disney true-life animal adventure films in actual living color which started last Friday, continues this Friday with a week-end showing of "White Wilderness," together with "Pioneers of the Everglades." Because of capacity attendance at all performances, the Hill Theatre management has announced an extra Saturday matinee at 2:00 p.m.

While of great interest to children and students of all ages, these films are of especial interest to adults because of the remarkable and really amazing feats of close-up photography for which Walt Disney has achieved worldwide fame.

For four days each week, starting each Friday through November 20, the Hill Theatre is showing a different Disney attraction. "The African Lion" begins October 30, followed successively by "Pett" and "Water Birds," "Jungle Cat" and "Beaver Valley," concluding the final week with "The Vanishing Prairie" and "Mysteries of the Deep," all in color and each with a Saturday matinee at 2:00 o'clock, with no advance in admission prices.

roads and paths leading through the beautiful coastal hills. Walking a half-dozen or a dozen miles a day is commonplace for this lovely little lady. With election day nearing, long time friends happily recall that Mrs. Rounds was always first at the Palo Colorado Schoolhouse to vote, on that day, "walking down and visiting on the way back," a round trip of over ten miles.

Soon Mrs. Rounds will visit another son Mr. Jules Goetz of Monterey and her daughter, Mrs. Mary Rianda of Arroyo Seco, but almost every week-end will find her returning to the canyon for those looked forward to walks and talks.

For the present Mrs. Rounds former home is leased to Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Alexander. For many years Mr. Alexander was back country patrolman with the United States Forest Service stationed at Boulders Gap in upper Palo Colorado Canyon.

THE AUTOMATED SOCIETY

"The Economics Of The Automated Society" is the title of a weekend seminar, beginning tomorrow at Redwood Lodge, Big Sur. The seminar, one of three sponsored by the Esalen Institute of Big Sur, will have as principal speakers, Louis O. Kelso, lawyer, economist and author, and Dr. Thomas Lantos, professor of economics, San Francisco State College. Mr. Kelso has presented his views on this subject in two books, "The Capitalist Manifesto" and "The New Capitalists" which he co-authored with philosopher Mortimer Adler. Kelso applies his theories to his day to day law practice and to his work as senior managing partner of a financial and corporate law firm and as founder of Pacific Basic Development Corporation, a corporation formed for the work of industrializing the under-developed countries of the world in a short space of time and in private management.

The second and third in this series of seminars, will be conducted at the Big Sur Hot Springs Lodge, the week-end of November 20-22 and January 8-10.

"Work and Non-Work in The Automated Society" is the title of the November discussion. Richard Raymond, land use economist and consultant on leisure, will join with Mr. Kelso that week-end.

Harry Bridges, president, International Longshoremen's & Warehousemen's Union, and Mr. Kelso will lead the January seminar in discussing "Unions And The Automated Society."

THE SMOKING HABIT

The pros and cons of The Smoking Habit will be discussed in a three-day seminar beginning tomorrow at the Big Sur Hot Springs. Leading the discussion will be Betty Berzon, research associate, Western Behavioral Sciences Institute, La Jolla; Laura Huxley, psychotherapist, Los Angeles; and Gene Sagan, clinical psychologist of Berkeley. Each of the speakers will present a different approach toward the understanding and overcoming of the smoking habit. Those taking part in the meetings will be asked to give up smoking for the duration of the program. The seminar is primarily designed for those seriously trying to break the habit.

SHAKESPEARE'S TEMPEST

Dryden Phelps, Shakespearean scholar and poet, will be at the Big Sur Hot Springs Lodge Friday through Sunday to conduct a seminar based upon a consideration of "The Tempest," the work of the great English playwright. All participants will be required to read the play before the discussions begin.

Currently Nepenthe at Big Sur is presenting the annual fall series of programs. Sunday at 2:30 p.m. the San Francisco Mime Troupe (Continued on Page Thirteen)

Spanish Official To Speak At WAC Dinner Meeting

Senor D. Manuel Fraga-Iribarne, Minister of Information for the Spanish government, will be the honored guest and speaker at a dinner meeting sponsored by the World Affairs Council of the Monterey Peninsula on Saturday. Jeffers Collection Being Exhibited In San Francisco

The most important private collection in the United States of the work of Robinson Jeffers is being exhibited on the second floor of the San Francisco Public Library.

Loaned to the library by Theodore Lillenthal, this collection includes many rare and privately printed volumes, original manuscripts and photographs of the late Carmel poet. Almost all of Jeffers' published works, from the rare 1904 edition of "The Youth's Companion" which includes the poem "The Condor," written at the age of 17, to "The Beginning and the End and Other Poems" published after his death in 1962, are in the Lillenthal collection. Most of the items are inscribed by Jeffers to Lillenthal, who was a close friend of the poet for over 30 years.

CONCERT BY MPC CHORUS

The 60-voice Monterey Peninsula College Chorus, conducted by Dr. Harvey Marshall, will give its first concert of the season tomorrow at 10 a.m. in the MPC Music Hall.

Friends of the chorus are invited to attend. There is no admission charge.

Featured on the program will be "Ode to the Virginian Voyage," composed by Randall Thompson, at the invitation of the Virginia 350th Anniversary Commission, to a text written by Michael Drayton in 1606.

Also sung by the chorus will be "Gloria" from the "Twelfth Mass" by Mozart; "As Torrents in Summer" by Elgar; and "A Zulu King," an American nonsense song.

What's doing?

You're seldom far from a phone these days. There's at least one in most homes, nearly all business offices, and at handy public locations.

Wasn't always so, you know. Used to be that people had to run down to the local drug-store or soda fountain to make a call. But over the years we've kept changing, improving and developing our equipment and service to make the phone a truly commonplace wonder. Today you can reach some 170-million phones round the world—without budging a foot outside your door.

"Bakery" for telephone cords. Ever wonder how the coiled cord on your telephone gets its spring? First, the cord is made from the following ingredients: bronze, nylon, plastic, paper, brass, silver and a wee pinch of mica dust. Then it's tightly wound on a steel rod and baked in a 268° oven for eight minutes. Baking "sets" the coil shape and gives the spring action that lets your phone cord stretch for convenient use, then coil back neatly and safely out of the way.

Your Pacific Telephone Co. of Monterey would like to remind you to be sure and vote on Tuesday, Nov. 3.

California is one of the "growingest" states in the country. And to match this growth, your phone company has been pumping more than a million dollars a day into California's economy. That's just for the construction of new and improved phone facilities to meet the increasing need for service. By continuing our investment in good, growing telephone service for our present and new customers we are helping to build a more prosperous California.

Why Pay Twice?

It would cost Californians over $300,000,000 in additional social security taxes for the proposed federal "medicare" plan—where medical care programs are already provided for those over 65

The physicians of California consistently have maintained that adequate medical care should be available to all people of this State, regardless of race, creed, color or financial status.

For those over age 65 in California, health care is provided in many ways. There are medical insurance programs which can be bought independently at reasonable cost. Other private and public programs are available where extensive medical costs would be a hardship.

The recent Kerr-Mills law, for example, enables California to provide broad benefits to those over 65 who might have difficulty in meeting the expenses of prolonged illness. With its full application in this State, as urged by California physicians, the Kerr-Mills law would be even more effective in covering physician, hospital, nursing home, drug and dental needs.

No better care for the elderly will be provided by taking an additional $300,000,000 in "medicare" social security taxes out of your pockets, when health care programs are presently available.

'Almost Carmelite' Explains How Necessary 'Yes' Vote Is On Proposition 2 In November

A branch of the University of California in Santa Cruz will accept 500 students in September, 1965. Three hundred of them will be juniors transferring from other universities and junior colleges; 200 will be freshmen.

There will be no dormitories for them to live in. Maybe they will have to sleep, even eat, in trailer facilities. But they will all be the first students to participate in a novel experiment as far as education in California is concerned. They will also, by attending UCSC, leave room for other students on the various campuses of the state university.

All this was told the Pine Cone recently by Harold A. Hyde, "an almost Carmelite." He came here from Santa Cruz to explain how vital to UCSC and every other branch of the university, also the state college and junior college systems, is the passage of Proposition 2 on the November 3 ballot.

Mr. Hyde, UCSC business and finance officer, is the son of Mrs. Fern Hyde who for many years lived on Casanova Street in Carmel. He is also a fifth generation member of the Hyde family to live in Santa Cruz County. And he is vitally interested in the future of UCSC and the public higher education program in California.

For example, 500 students will enter UCSC in its incompleting state next autumn, but what about a second group of 1,000 expected in 1966 and a third class of 1500 in 1967? Unless Proposition 2 is passed there will be no funds to finance 11 projects at UCSC necessary for educating these young people living in individual units, (colleges) all part of the university. This system is similar to Oxford University in England and is a pioneer project in public education in California. There will be living in each college preceptors, all able to help students educationally. In other words there will be a personal contact so lacking in most present-day universities.

A total of $7,711,600 of the $380 million state construction bond issue, known as Proposition 2, will go to UCSC to provide a library, two more colleges, a central heating plant and distribution system; playing fields and field house; fine arts-classroom building; a second natural science unit; utilities and site development; equipment for Cowell College, the first unit to be opened, also equipment for the first natural sciences building. Lastly, this money will buy books.

Allocation of Proposition 2 funds to higher public education will be as follows—if approved by the voters—$117,589,197, state university system; $99,034,950, state colleges;

HAROLD A. HYDE

$50,000,000, community junior colleges.

The junior college allocation will provide this part of the public education system with urgently needed classroom and laboratory buildings, including Monterey Peninsula College, where President George J. Faul has emphasized the need for expanded facilities. In fact, when he came here this summer, Dr. Faul was amazed how well MPC had carried on its education program lacking in the facilities which Proposition 2 will provide.

Monterey County's share of the bond issue will be $365,000. This bond issue money will provide junior college facilities in this county without any large immediate tax increase, as will also be the case for all taxpayers as far as maintaining state university and state college construction. (Looking to the future, however, the state legislature has formally stated its intention to put "major emphasis on pay-as-you-go financing" of such projects, using tidelands funds in part.)

Proposition 2 funds, besides buildings and equipment, will also provide funds for site acquisition for the state universities, colleges and junior colleges.

Thirty percent of the total Proposition 2 bond issue will go to build critically needed projects in the fields of mental hygiene, correctional facilities, veterans housing and conservation.

Cyril Magnin of San Francisco, co-chairman for "Yes on Proposition Number 2" urges a majority affirmative vote. He says it will cost the people of California, if the state reaches its projected population of 24.6 million people in 1975, just 80 cents per person per year during the 25-year amortization period of the bond issue.

Don Muchmore of Los Angeles, co-chairman of the same committee, in emphasizing the need for a "Yes" vote on Proposition 2 says,

"The answer to the problem of drop-outs is stay-ins. We want every young Californian to become educated to the fullest extent of his ability, not just because this is an ideal but because it is the only hope for long-term employment."

But back to Mr. Hyde who is a friend of Mayor Herbert Blanks of Carmel and has visited here a great deal, especially when his mother was a Carmel resident. He realizes how interested Carmelites are in higher education and how many of them want their children, also grandchildren, to go on to colleges and universities. That is why he thought it worth a trip here to ask the Pine Cone to explain how necessary he thinks a "Yes" vote on Proposition 2 is to UCSC, also to every other branch of the University of California, every state college, every junior college and every student with the intelligence to continue his or her education in any of these facilities.

Howard Timbers Issues Challenge To Cookie Bakers

November is Cookie Month for the Carmel Chapter of the American Red Cross. The Grey Ladies and their acting chairman, Mrs. Donald Boynton Walker, are asking for 100 dozen home-made cookies to be delivered to the chapter house, Dolores and Eighth, each Monday. "And before the cookies really cool off," Mrs. Walker states, "they will be delivered to the boys at Fort Ord."

This year's cookie call is a real challenge to Carmel lady bakers.

For the past four years Howard E. Timbers has been baking peanut butter cookies, dozens and dozens of them, and delivering them to the Red Cross.

"Through the years, I've given gallons of blood to the blood bank," Mr. Timbers says, "Then, four years ago I had it impressed upon me that I wasn't a youngster any more and had better keep the red fluid for myself—that's when I turned to cookie baking. Peanut butter cookies are my favorites, because they stay crisp and fresh, and gooey too, for at least a couple of weeks. "So, come Halloween, I'll check my supplies, roll up my sleeves, and get rolling! Any challenges?"

I've been thinking about the "buys" in every woman's life that should never have happened . . . The box of bracelets and baubles in your bureau drawer that don't go with a blooming thing in your wardrobe . . . the ornaments and trays and doodads gathering the dust of ages—in the basement . . . And, in the linen cupboard, a wild assortment of towels and linens, all in the wrong colors. Sit down some day and add up their dollars' worth, and then have a good cry . . . or learn, my girl, learn—to co-ordinate, as you shop.

X X X

One of the grand features of The Mark Fenwick Shops (here and in Santa Clara) is, that having found your fashions there, status clothes you can be dead sure of—you can go right along and select accessories to go with them. The handbags, clutch purses and such are Etienne Agnier, Davey, and Roger van S. originals, no less. Those tri-scarves, mad money purses, cigaret cases and belts are Talbott originals, created in their unmistakable textures, expressly for Mark Fenwick's fussy customers. The mad-caps are by Madcap and they're quite the maddest headlines I've seen. But most of all, the Mark Fenwick jewelry stirs me. Lapel pins, bracelets, rings, in brushed gold, tortoise, wood and heaven knows what. Every blessed piece is selected for casual daytime glamor. Some have turquoise and grand fake jewel settings,—but after dark glitter? Heaven forbid! There are beads too, strung to all lengths, in marvelous off-colors.

Smartest trick of the year, as you select your togs, choose the accessories to go with them, in THE MARK FENWICK SHOPS, CARMEL PLAZA, AND STEVENS CREEK PLAZA, SANTA CLARA.

And this is what every woman knows . . . when, after sundown you don your formal clothes, if you are going to sustain that grand "win all" feeling all through the longest evening, with the critical eyes of your nearest and dearest (?) girl friends flashing how-does-she-do-it . . . your jewelry must be precious and have that created just for you character. Henri Corbat's Swiss Shop is my dish of tea! Have you seen his hand-crafted jewelry? Pins, bracelets, clips. They are exquisite originals of flawless workmanship! If you don't see what you want he will listen to your yearnings, or look at your sketch, no matter how rough it is, and make your dream piece for you. It may be jewelled or not, and it will be yours alone. And don't miss the Lavre-Leuba wristwatch ensembles from Switzerland. With the tiny watch comes four interchangeable bezels and straps. A bezel is a wreath of semi-precious jewels that will encircle your watch with enchantment (it may be worn as a clip too) and each bezel is different in color and design. For elegance in watches and jewelry, do consult HENRI CORBAT, THE SWISS SHOP, SAN CARLOS AND FIFTH.

Of all the talents every little woman who loves-to-play-hostess is supposed to possess, the art of arranging flowers and fruits is probably the rarest, and most frustrating. Arrangements that harmonize with your decor, or that dramatize a precious bowl or vase or wall sconce, are an investment in your individuality, the accent of beauty, in every room in the house . . . And today it can be unfading and permanent! Interior decorators know, but do you? The creation of permanent flowers and fruits is today, a major industry, involving artists, chemists and horticulturists, in Italy, France and United States. Using polyethylene and kindred "miracle" textures specialists are producing exquisite reproductions of nature that defy detection. They are unfading and even washable and best of all they are to be found right here in Carmel in superb profusion of arrangements, in the new studio of Judith Mary King. There are "holders" too, of rare porcelain, brass, copper, wrought iron, wood . . . contemporary or antique. Whether you are seeking a spray or an "arrangement" . . . or just yearning for an adventure in beauty, take yourself, and your special friends to visit the JUDITH MARY KING STUDIO OF PERMANENT FLOWERS, LOWER LEVEL, CARMEL PLAZA.

Time was when a bath towel was just that . . . a big white oblong of terry, used for blotting dry the human form. But today? Blotting yourself dry with a bath towel from Mary May's is as exciting as a quaff of dry champagne! They're two-faced—terry/velvet! Two-toned, in pretty pastels, or wicked stained glass tones! And! they're for dressing up too. Know what you can do with three, giant size? Have yourself a floor length lounging shift! It's a trick!! Mary May will make to order, or show you how to do it yourself. How about bronze/black . . . peacock blue/dragon green . . . mad pink/apricot? There are velvet and satin applied towels too. All towels available in finger-tip to giant sizes. You'll find amazing and original boudoir and bath accessories, to insure your domestic tranquility, without making it all too tranquil, know what I mean? FARR RECEPTION

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald V. Barron have issued invitations for a reception honoring State Senator Fred Farr (D-Carmel). The party will be held on Sunday evening at the Barrons' home on Ford Road in Carmel Valley.

In this day and age... SHOULD GARAGES BE FORCED TO HIRE BLACKSMITHS?

No more than railroads should be forced to hire firemen on diesel freight locomotives where there are no fires to tend nor coal to shovel.

It would cost you money every time your car was in the garage if garages had to hire featherbedding blacksmiths.

And it costs you money every day in higher freight rates on the food and goods you buy because an old horse-and-buggy-days law requires California railroads to hire featherbedding firemen.

Proposition 17 repeals that costly, outmoded law. Proposition 17 makes it possible for California to put into effect the national transportation settlements—worked out by Congress and Presidents EISENHOWER, KENNEDY and JOHNSON—which eliminate wasteful featherbedding in the railroad industry under terms that insure maximum job protection, yet retain two men in the cab of all trains.

Keep California competitive...

ROTARY CLUB DONATES GIFT TO HOSPITAL

Carmel Rotary Club has donated a life-saving aquamatic hypothermia unit to Community Hospital. The $1,750 unit may be used a number of ways with critically ill patients.

One of its purposes is to raise or lower body temperatures. It is particularly useful in surgery of the brain, heart and chest.

The unit also can quickly reduce and control dangerously high temperatures that arise from post-operative, infectious or traumatic origin, for example, a child with a concussion.

Steven Sassoon, club president, and August H. Johnson, club project chairman, made the presentation to the hospital.

Symphony Parties

With the Monterey County Symphony Orchestra's first concert of the season scheduled for Tuesday evening, Mrs. Richard Osborne hosted the Symphony Guild pre-view tea, in her Pebble Beach home on Monday afternoon.

Following the pattern that delighted music lovers last season, Conductor John Gosling, using recordings, gave a running commentary on the music to be heard at the concert.

At the tea and coffee urns were Mrs. John Gosling, Mrs. Frank G. Ringland, Mrs. Kenneth Walker, Mrs. D. MacMillan Kerr, and Mrs. M. A. Shutes.

Mrs. Janice Folsom Niebel, president of the Guild, greeted the guests.

Following Tuesday night's concert a reception, tendered by the Guild, to members of the orchestra, will be held in the Carmel Art Association Galleries.

In the receiving line with Mrs. Niebel will be Conductor and Mrs. John Gosling; President of the Symphony Association Tony H. G. Royal, and Mrs. Royal; the Symphony's new concert master, George Nagata, and Carmel's greatly loved patron of music, Mrs. Charles A. Trumbly.

WAC Meeting

Herr Gerhard Merzyn, who is traveling in the United States as a representative of the federal press office of the West German Government, will discuss the problems of European integration at a meeting for members only of the World Affairs Council on October 30.

Herr Merzyn is also director of the Institute for Economic Politics in Hamburg. This German institute conducts yearly seminars in its branches throughout Western Europe in economics, politics, education, science and journalism.

Members of the German department at the Defense Language School will be guests of the WAC at this meeting which will be held in the community room of the Carmel Rancho shopping center at 8:00 p.m.

Honor Mr. Ashmore

Dr. George J. Faul, president of Monterey Peninsula College, and Mrs. Faul will entertain on Monday evening at their home on Camino Real in honor of Harry S. Ashmore, winner of a Pulitzer prize in journalism when he was editor of the Arkansas Gazette, and who, next week, will be MPC's sixth "visiting-lecturer-in-residence."

Mr. Ashmore now is director of editorial research and development for Encyclopedia Britannica and on the staff of the Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions in Santa Barbara.

Beach Picnic

Marjory Watson, an artist of New York City and Sedona, Arizona, is the houseguest of Mrs. Douglas Robinson. A frequent visitor to Carmel, Mrs. Watson tells that her three favorite (and totally different) spots in the United States are Sedona, in the red rock country south of Flagstaff; New York City, and the Monterey Peninsula.

As a vital part of Carmel life, promised by her hostess, Mrs. Watson was the honor guest at a beach picnic on Monday evening.

Attend Opera

Music critic and teacher, Mary Lindsay-Oliver, also vocalist Jocelyn Perry, drove to San Francisco on Friday evening to hear the San Francisco Opera Company's production of Il Trovatore. Miss Lindsay-Oliver said that while the singing as well as the production were superb, she found the elaborate renaissance costumes incongruous in the contemporary settings. The two Carmelites were guests of the opera company management.

Mudds' Housewarming

Dr. and Mrs. Richard Murtland were the instigators of a very jolly housewarming for Dr. and Mrs. Seeley Mudd last Friday evening. The Mudds were completely surprised when friends bearing gifts and a gourmet supper arrived.

In real Carmel fashion everybody viewed the Mudds' lovely new home and garden.

Congratulating their host and hostess were the Reverend and Mrs. David Hill, Dr. and Mrs. William Harness, Dr. and Mrs. Jerry Martin, Dr. and Mrs. Jack Mahoney and Dr. and Mrs. Cline Smith. Also, Major General and Mrs. R. J. Howze, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Huntington, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bray and Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Graham, and, of course, the Murtlands.

Dinner For Rhea

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Diveley gave a surprise bon voyage dinner in their new home in the Monterey Peninsula Country Club on Monday evening for Harry's sister, Mrs. Rhea Diveley, who left town today for an extended tour in the Far East. The guests included Rhea's fellow officers and members of the Carmel Woman's Club, Mrs. Alexander W. Cleary, president; Miss Genevieve Gehres, treasurer; Mrs. Walter C. Adams, rental chairman, and Mrs. Edith Anderson Forstl. Also enjoying the host's barbecued steaks and Mrs. Diveley's gourmet menu were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Elstob and Mr. and Mrs. Steven Dallas.

Woman Of The Year

Miss Gertrude Rendtorff of Carmel, who has been dean of girls at Monterey High School since 1932, has been selected 1964 Woman of the Year by the Monterey Peninsula Quota Club. She will be honored at a dinner at Asilomar on November 18.

Miss Rendtorff has known Carmel since childhood. In the early days of the village her parents, the late Dr. and Mrs. Karl G. Rendtorff, built a summer home here. It is on Camino Real north of Ocean in the area formerly known as Professors' Row because many Stanford professors built in this location. Following Dr. Rendtorff's retirement from the Stanford faculty, he and his wife lived permanently in this house and it is now Miss Rendtorff's home.

Woman's Club Program

At Monday afternoon's meeting, Mrs. Dudley Miles, house and garden chairman of the Carmel Woman's Club, will present Judith Mary King, expert in floral arrangements, who has recently opened her studio in the Carmel Plaza.

Mrs. King, appearing for the second time before Woman's Club members, will talk of "Deceivers for Fun and Fancy." She will also suggest Christmas decorations that may be used in every room in the house.

Assisting the club's hospitality chairman, Mrs. William Sumner, will be Mrs. Paul A. Gliebe, Mrs. Clara J. Oates and Mrs. E. M. Siefert.

At the tea tables will be Mrs. Fenton Grigsby, Mrs. Harry E. Outcault, Mrs. Walter B. Blascoe and Mrs. Clare Appleby.

River School Speaker

The Reverend Robert O'Brien, formerly with the United Nations, will speak before the fourth grade students of River School, and their parents, tomorrow morning at 10:00 o'clock.

With Saturday designated "United Nations Day," Mr. O'Brien will draw upon his reminiscences of 20 years with the organization, during his address.

Teachers of River School's fourth grade classes are, Miss Darby Moss, Miss Mary Alice Osborne and Miss Jo Anne Combs.

ALL-NIGHT DRIVE

Police Chief Clyde Klaumann drove all last night to arrive in Carmel this morning from Winnemucca, Nevada.

On a fishing vacation along the Idaho-Nevada border, he received word of the death of a close relative of Mrs. Klaumann which necessitated the all-night drive to the Peninsula.

New Pebble Beach Golf Club Named

The directors of the new golf course being built between Cypress Point and the Monterey Peninsula Country Club in Del Monte Forest, have chosen a permanent name for the 7,190-yard layout.

It will be known as Spyglass Hill Golf Club since it winds around Spyglass Hill which played a part in the colorful history of the Monterey area.

In the latter part of the 19th Century, Robert Louis Stevenson spent a good deal of time wandering in the forests of this area. There is reason to believe that the high dunes of the Spyglass area were the inspiration for the Spyglass Hill which played such a prominent part in Stevenson's "Treasure Island."

Clearing is completed on the new course for which Robert Trent Jones is the architect, and major grading for the irrigation system is well under way.

We take pleasure in announcing that we are welcoming a new associate in our office

SERENDIPITY IS THAT APTITUDE

FOR MAKING FORTUNATE DISCOVERIES QUITE UNEXPECTEDLY, and this is how we experienced it in the course of an ordinary real estate day: We were invited to see a new Carmel home, and we went expecting to see a nice, but just another, new home. TWO ELEGANT BEDROOMS, two baths (one with its own "atrium"). Step down to a living room that warmly beckons and invites entertaining-type evenings or cosy at-homes around the fireplace. Delightful dining room. Great kitchen. Morning-sun deck. Beautifully draped and appointed throughout.

THINK WE'RE EXAGGERATING? If you're interested in a new home, and even if you're thinking of building, you must see this first. Especially because the price is only $42,500.

MPC Board Likes Plan To Develop Present Site In Multi-Story Structures

The Monterey Peninsula Junior College District board of trustees, at its regular monthly meeting on October 14, moved ahead on nine of the recommendations made by the 25-member Citizens' Committee to Study MPC.

Among the recommendations accepted was the plan to develop the college site on its present campus, providing for maximum use of the existing space by directing the architect to consider the use of multi-story buildings.

Also accepted was the philosophy that the emphasis in planning will be on classrooms, laboratories, faculty offices and student learning areas rather than on such auxiliary facilities as parking areas.

The board thanked the citizens' committee for its comprehensive report, assuring it that "all recommendations will be studied . . . toward the final result of implementation. In the event that these studies show major disagreement with the committee's recommendations, the committee will be notified and an appropriate opportunity will be given for discussion of these differences."

In other action, the board heard first reading of a recommended modification of the college policy on compulsory physical education which would lower the requirement age from 25 years of age to 21 for fulltime students.

A gift of 100 shares of International Telephone and Telegraph stock, earmarked for students in MPC's technical-vocational program, was accepted from an anonymous donor, who, in a letter read to the board by President George J. Faul, congratulated the college on "its fine development of vocational programs." Also accepted was a gift of $10 from Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Hughes for the Stafford Hughes Memorial Fund in memory of Mrs. Norma Stafford.

In other action, the board passed a resolution to urge support of Proposition 2, the higher education facilities bill, on the November 3 ballot.

Cable From Spain

Local linguistic abilities were tested this week when a cable in Spanish came from Spain for Mayor Herbert Blanks.

But the Mayor is in another Spanish-speaking country . . . Mexico.

The local Western Union office delivered the message, which had given some trouble in transmission, to the Mayor's mother, Mrs. Anthony F. Blanks. She shared her language problem with Councilman Eben Whittlesey.

The cable was from Don Maximo Alomar, Mayor of Palma on the Island of Majorca.

Because of Father Junipero Serra there is a close bond between Carmel and Majorca. Petra, on this island, is Father Serra's birthplace, also sister city to Carmel where the founder of the California Missions is buried.

A year ago, Mr. Whittlesey, then mayor of Carmel, cemented this bond even stronger when he visited Majorca as the guest of the Spanish government. At this time he stayed in Palma and met Don Alomar.

The international bond was strengthened again last November when Carmel returned Spain's courtesy and Don Alomar came here. Mr. Whittlesey, still Mayor, was his official host. At that time Don Alomar visited Father Serra's grave at Carmel Mission Basilica. This was a high point of his visit.

All this caused Mrs. Blanks to ask Mr. Whittlesey to help her with the cable in Spanish.

Together they translated it. The message to Mayor Blanks was one of congratulation on the revival on November 1 of the centuries-old Fiesta de San Carlos Borromeo, the Mission's patron saint.

City Planners Hold Public Hearings

Yesterday, Carmel planning commissioners, sitting as a board of adjustments, approved a request of Mrs. Walter Lehmann to divide land at the southwest corner of Lincoln and Santa Lucia streets into two building sites.

Commissioners also held public hearings on (1) a request from Derek Rayne Limited to build a two-story and basement parking structure and facility behind existing shops on the south side of Ocean Avenue north of Lincoln Street; (2) a variance request from George H. Macy to reduce a lot at Alta and San Carlos below the minimum area of 4,000 square feet; (3) two variance requests from Mr. and Mrs. Robert Derr to allow an increase in building coverage for a two-story dwelling and setbacks on two adjacent lots on Dolores between Third and Fourth. These matters were referred to the city's land use committee for study and report next week. At this time the commission proposes to act on each matter.

The commission accepted a favorable report from the same committee on the request of Mrs. Dorothy Coy to divide property on Crespi Avenue provided certain requirements are fulfilled first.

A matter before the design review committee studied yesterday by the commission was a request for lighting at Ocean View Lodge.

Preliminary plans for Carmel Theatre, a development planned for the southwest corner of Dolores and Eighth, were not reviewed by the commission as the designer, Kip Stewart, withdrew the plans for revision.

COUNCIL MEETING

The city council will meet in adjourned session on Wednesday evening at 8 p.m. in the city hall to consider a letter from the Carmel Citizens Committee proposing the adoption of municipal policies on such matters as the control of supermarkets, chain stores, and the size and bulk of business buildings, etc.

MORE PARKING

AT COMMUNITY HOSPITAL
Construction crews are in the process of building 100 more automobile parking spaces on the west side of Community Hospital of the Monterey Peninsula.

When the work is completed next month, there will be 250 parking spaces around the hospital.

The work includes complete landscaping. Seven mature olive trees will be planted to provide a green belt between the hospital and the parking lot. The result is planned to be a pleasing transition from olive to oak to pine trees.

Carmelites Hurt In Car Collision

Enroute to San Jose, to attend a regional blood bank meeting there, Miss Dorothy James, executive secretary of the Carmel Chapter, American Red Cross, was seriously injured in a traffic accident which occurred at the freeway's San Jose turn-off, at 10:10 a.m. on Tuesday.

In the car with Miss James were Mrs. Miriam Godwin, owner and driver of the car, Mrs. Rogers Parratt, Mrs. Francis Howard, and Miss Malola Crocker.

The Carmel car was involved in a collision with a car whose driver was 80-year-old Manuel De Costa of San Jose.

Miss James was thrown against the side of the car, suffering multiple fractures in her right arm and shoulder, and bruises and cuts about her head. She was taken to the San Jose Hospital by ambulance.

The other riders in the car, with the exception of Miss Crocker, who was uninjured, suffered severe bruises and shock.

Mrs. Godwin was taken to the home of a relative in Palo Alto, and in response to a telephone call from his wife, Colonel Parratt drove to San Jose to bring Mrs. Parratt, Mrs. Howard and Miss Crocker back to Carmel.

Miss Jean Fuller, close friend of Miss James, went to the San Jose Hospital yesterday in order to learn when Miss James could be moved to Community Hospital here. While the authorities reported her as "doing well" it will be some time before she can be transferred.

GASOLINE THEFT

Two boys, both Carmel High School students, were apprehended last night by Carmel police on a charge of siphoning gasoline following a report that gas had been taken from the car of Roland Edgar Nagel of Monterey. The vehicle was parked at Monte Verde and Thirteenth.

PUBLIC MEETING

The Carmel Sanitary District Board is asking all interested property owners in the Rancho Rio Vista area to a public meeting in the community room at the Carmel Rancho shopping center on Wednesday at 7:30 p.m.

Purpose of the meeting is to discuss sewerage service and discover, in open discussion, whether or not residents of the Rancho Rio Vista area want to annex to the sanitary district.

Planners Report To Council On Annexation

mended that requests to circulate annexation petitions should be in the order of importance given above.

Another recommendation in the report to the council was that, as in the matters of park area, river preservation, and public and semi-public uses each of the three areas have varying and different characteristics, they be required to act separately and individually in the circulation of annexation petitions, and that voting on annexation be by the residents of each area for that area only.

Lastly, the report says "that if the city council finds cause to consider approval of certain of the requests and denial of some others, that it take into consideration the potential benefits to Carmel's General Plan of each area."

One of the findings of the committee on planning and conservation, contained in its report to the commission, is that the permissible uses in the residential zones of the county adjacent to Carmel are, with the exception of signs, as restrictive as those in Carmel. (The county permits signs of larger size in the R-1 district than does the city.)

Noted in the report is the fact that county zoning permits duplexes in the south end of Flanders Canyon across Rio Road from Carmel Mission and that a use permit obtained from the county for this area, now undeveloped, could allow increases in the number and kind of uses, also increases in possible building coverage in this particular area where minimum sites are 6,000 square feet.

In the Carmel general plan this area is designated to be left undeveloped as a natural park.

The council referred the annexation petitions to the planning commission for study and recommendation in a report. This is a necessary legal step in annexation procedure.

Next step is for the council to receive this report. Further procedure will depend on the council's action on the committee report adopted by the commission last Thursday.
